

Following on from our last blog post, we have continued with our portrait work in Art.

We had a go at completing the other half of our face:

Then we practised drawing a face using the correct proportion:

We then printed our faces using different coloured inks:

What do you think?